Mission Sun: ISRO wraps up launch rehearsal

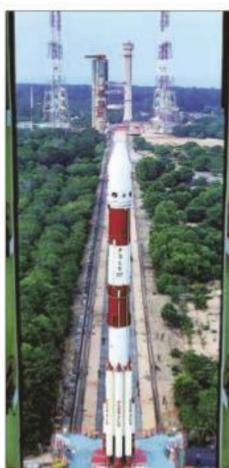

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Bengaluru, August 30

GIVING AN UPDATE on its Aditya-L1 mission to study the Sun, ISRO said on Wednesday the launch rehearsal and the rocket's internal checks have been completed.

The mission is scheduled to be launched on September 2 at 11.50 am from the Sriharikota spaceport. Aditya-L1 spacecraft is designed for providing remote observations of the solar corona and in situ observations of the solar wind at L1 (Sun-Earth Lagrangian point), which is about 1.5 million kilometres from the earth.

It will be the first dedicated Indian space mission for observations of the Sun to be launched by the Bengaluru-headquartered space agency.

The spacecraft — the first space-based Indian observatory to study the Sun — will be launched by PSLV-C57 rocket. "The preparations for the launch are progressing", ISRO said in a social media post today. "The Launch Rehearsal - Vehicle Internal Checks are completed".

The Aditya-L1 mission, aimed at studying the Sun from an orbit around the L1, would carry seven payloads to observe the photosphere, chromosphere and the outermost layers of the Sun, the corona, in different wavebands.

Aditya-L1 is an indigenous effort with the participation of national institutions, an ISRO official said.

The Bengaluru-based Indian Institute of Astrophysics (IIA) is the lead institute for the development of Visible Emission Line Coronagraph payload. Inter-University Centre for Astronomy and Astrophysics, Pune, has developed the Solar Ultraviolet Imager payload for the mission.

Aditya-L1 can provide observations on the corona, and on the solar Chromosphere using the UV payload and on the flares using the X-ray payloads. The particle detectors and the magnetometer payload can provide information on charged particles and the magnetic field reaching the halo orbit around L1.

Gaze on the World Cup, eye on the skies

A touristy town is eagerly awaiting the onrushing of cricket-tourists, but rain could yet play spoilsport

VENKATA KRISHNA B
Pallekele, August 30

THE ROLLED-UP COVERS placed along the boundary lines strike your eyes as fast as the Hunnagiriya ranges that decorate the backdrop on one side of the Pallekele Stadium. The ground staff are busy fixing giant screens and the scoreboard, besides keeping the covers in place. But more than the ground, they had their eyes fixed on the dark clouds kissing the top of splendid ranges, as late monsoon threatens to wreak havoc on the Asia Cup. Fans, too, would have a finger on the weather apps, ahead of the feisty Sri Lanka-Bangalore encounter on Thursday and even more for the Saturday fixture between India and Pakistan.

On a gloomy day where the sun hardly peeped out of the dark clouds, the outfield said a story in itself. On one of the square boundaries, thanks to the heavy rainfall on the previous evening, the outfield remained so wet that there were patches where it could leave a footmark even if one walked over it.

The weather was similar on Tuesday too. On the drive from Colombo to Pallekele, it was impossible to miss the dark clouds moving fast towards Kandy, which is just an half-an-hour drive from the stadium. Some of the roadside vendors are selling tender coconut to replace them with umbrellas, a definite sign of things to come. Two-wheeler riders hurriedly put raincoats on and it was hard to spot a tuk-tuk that hadn't rolled down its covers.

Unusual scheduling

Though the monsoon has landed after a delay, August-

Indian cricket team captain Rohit Sharma arrives in Colombo on Wednesday for the Asia Cup 2023

September is an unusual time to play cricket in Sri Lanka. It is a period the debt-ridden SLC usually avoids, because of the strong possibility of evening rains. Among its prominent venues, Hambantota, which is located in the south-east corner of the island, is yet to host an ODI in September.

Out of the 33 ODIs the stadium has hosted, only one has been in September and only two have been held in the last week of August. It isn't restricted to Pallekele alone. Even Colombo, which is set to host the Super Four stage and the final, tends to receive heavy rainfall during the month of September. It practically means that the Asia Cup, the all-important stop ahead of the World Cup, is on the mercy of rain gods.

The R Premadasa Stadium, which has been hosting matches since 1986, has hosted only 28 matches in the September. In fact, after the 2002 Champions Trophy that included two back-to-back finals being washed out, leaving India and Sri Lanka to share the trophy, it has hosted only nine ODIs in the month. A tri-series involving the hosts, India and New Zealand was the lone tournament to be played beyond the first week of September.

Scenic backdrop

But if the clouds ease, the audience would be in for a visual treat, literally and symbolically. The stadium's backdrop may not be as visually pleasing as it is in Cape Town or Dharamsala. Yet this stadium, born after Sri Lanka Cricket put the historic Asgiriya to rest, is amongst the most scenic ones in world cricket. It almost resembles a bowl placed between the mountains. The minimal concrete structures and grass banks either side of the square embellish the beauty of this only active stadium in the hill countryside of Sri Lanka.

Since it opened to international cricket in 2009, it has become a permanent venue and is among a few in the island that plays hosts to all formats. For a region heavily dependent on tourists, the arrival of the Asia Cup to the hillsides comes with mixed emotions. With two key rivalries — Bangladesh vs Sri Lanka and India vs Pakistan — set to renew and fans expected to throng the region, thanks to the numerous picturesque destinations in the vicinity, the tourism sector has been eagerly waiting for the tournament to begin.

Hotels and resorts in the region are already sold out. Most rooms are sold at higher prices than usual; restaurants and eateries are keeping themselves well-stocked in anticipation of a windfall. They were counting hours, but were left grim-faced due to the unexpected or the late arrival of rain.

But it is difficult to blame the cricket board or the venue. As the Asian Cricket Council locked Sri Lanka as one of the hosts of the hybrid model Asia Cup, Colombo and Pallekele were not the first choice host cities. It is learnt that the SLC preferred to host the tournament in Dambulla, a dry region in the central part of the country that usually doesn't receive rainfall during the period. Out of the 56 ODIs, only three have been washed out and they came in the months of August, March and October.

However, it is understood that the Indian team firmly refused to play in Dambulla, a city it hasn't visited since 2010. Then came Pallekele and Colombo into the picture. For the locals, many of whom are dependent on farming and tourism, the rains have brought smiles. With Wednesday being the last day of Poya festival, the arrival of monsoon gave more reasons to celebrate.

But rain or not, with a capacity crowd expected for the India-versus Pakistan fixture on Saturday, they have more reasons to rejoice and extend warm hospitality.
